Summary

Includes an overview of the intake performance and achievement and tutor comments: a whole provider approach.

The National School of Aesthetics (NaSA) is committed to ensuring our ākonga / students' safety and wellbeing are our utmost priority while they complete their studies and educational journeys with us.

We take a 'whole organisational' approach and a number of effective 'wrap around' practices to ensure no student is left behind and each individual student feels connected, safe and well during their time with us.

We pride ourselves in creating inclusive learning environments and are constantly reviewing and improving our cultural capability practices to ensure that inclusiveness extends to our Māori, Pacific, disabled, and diverse students at all times.

Our newly re-established student council board members (August 2022) have been responsive to our call for further student feedback on all areas of their studying experiences with us. This valuable feedback also informs our continuous improvement and enables a safe platform for our ākonga / student voices to be heard face to face across all demographics.

In October 2022, we implemented our ākonga / student wellbeing check-ins, based off the core objectives from the Pastoral Care of Tertiary and International Learners Code of Practice 2021 (hereon called "The Code" or COP). This process enables our kaiako / tutors to meet with their designated ākonga / student groups once a term on a 1:1 basis where avenues of health and wellbeing are explored from both a personal and studying perspective. Student goals are established throughout this process and at-risk students monitored more closely by all kaimahi / colleagues, especially our Student Liaison Officer (hereon abbreviated SLO), for additional and external support as and when required. Orientation for new intakes will now include ākonga / students being introduced to the NZQA Code of Practice Digital Tool Kit and provided information on where and how to access our complaint procedures in more detail.

Our self-review of practices listed below aligns to each outcome (1-4) from the Code and details what is going well and any areas for improvements. Following that the action plan at the end of the document will speak to each of these areas.

Our Outcome-by-Outcome Review

Outcome 1: A Learner Wellbeing and Safety System

Level of Code Implementation	Well-Implemented
Sources of evidence	What's going well?	Areas for improvement	Actions
Ākonga/ student wellbeing check-ins ( Appendix 1 )	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Held once a term for each ākonga / student, or as and when identified as a need for any ākonga / student showing concern for their health and wellbeing.</li> <li>Held one to one and privately with members of the Education and Training team or our Student Liaison Officer (SLO)</li> <li>Identifies each ākonga / student's personal wellbeing (score 1 – 5) and what support they have in place if any.</li> <li>Identifies each ākonga/ student's academic success (score 1 – 5) and provides opportunities to establish own personal learning goals to achieve before the end of each term.</li> <li>Instant escalation to SLO and / or other relevant health / social care providers available if required.</li> <li>Opportunities to discuss at-risk ākonga / students during daily team meetings for additional monitoring.</li> <li>A student commented: “Keep up with the wellbeing check ins to understand what students are going through outside of course which may be impacting their studies” (Programme Evaluation Data – Dec 2022 BT Graduate)</li> </ul>	We have noticed through self-review of this process that the small majority of our at-risk students were at times requiring more frequent check ins and follow ups using this same process which were not always being met due to tutor capacity. We also noticed a gap in communication between our kaiako / tutor(s) and our SLO in some circumstances which highlighted the loop was not always being closed with this process.	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Kaiako / tutors to liaise with SLO on any at-risk students who require more frequent wellbeing check-ins and provide documentation.             <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Any documentation to be stored centrally and privately with SLO.</li> <li>Flowchart of process to be communicated and shared with all kaimahi / colleagues.</li> </ol> </li> </ol>
Student council meeting Minutes	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Diverse range of ākonga / students on the student council board to include, Māori, Pacific, disabled and diverse ākonga.</li> <li>Meetings held once per term.</li> <li>Wellbeing and safety of ākonga / students are a standing agenda item as part of this hui.</li> </ul>

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Opportunity for ākonga / students to discuss with other ākonga / students on any wellbeing and safety concerns to be addressed as part of this hui.</li> <li>• Principal, SLO and Quality Assurance and Compliance Officer included as attendees of council board.</li> <li>• Meeting minutes shared across the organisation and all council members within 24 hours and action items identified.</li> <li>• Outcomes and actions are timely addressed and shared across the organisation and student council members for feedback.</li> <li>• EXAMPLE: Students discussed their desire to have set times for general access to our SLO. These were discussed across the board and agreed upon the most suitable times for students to have this access was before period 1 and during their break. All parties were in agreement to this change before being implemented.</li> <li>• Priority safety and wellbeing actions escalated to CEO and Director of Operations for further actioning and reporting.</li> </ul>
Organisation professional development log 2023	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Tātai Aho Rau Core Education hosted two on-site workshops for all kaimahi / colleagues in August 2023. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ Workshop 1: Developing an understanding of ethical and moral obligations to uphold Te Tiriti o Waitangi throughout the organisation and unpacking the importance of developing cultural competencies within our work environment.</li> <li>○ Workshop 2: Tikanga and basic te reo Māori language skills to inform effective engagement with Māori ākonga, promote an inclusive environment and form equitable relationships with Māori.</li> <li>○ These workshops have proven valuable in increasing kaimahi / colleagues' confidence in speaking and writing in basic te reo, as well as developing our knowledge in our Te Tiriti obligations as an educational provider.</li> </ul> </li> </ul>	From the information and knowledge acquired through our recent cultural capability workshops, NaSA are beginning to explore imaginative and engaging methods of incorporating basic te reo and tikanga Māori into the classroom and learning environment.	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>2. Continue to promote the use of basic te reo into the learning environment and develop own capabilities in speaking te reo.</li> <li>3. Encourage and support ākonga / students to use their Clinical Practice self-Reflective Workbook to showcase their practical work experiences using a Maori lens to promote inclusion and prepare them for industry.</li> </ol>

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ A kaiako response to attending these workshops: “In response to the cultural capability workshop, I have made an effort to include more te reo in my lessons and in correspondence with ākonga, e.g. when the season rolled over to spring I used the Māori word ‘Koanga’ on the timetable. Staff members often greet each other in te reo now. I value that language needs to be spoken correctly so have made the effort to practice the Māori vowel sounds so that I am able to pronounce unfamiliar words. I value the cultural importance of correct pronunciation and to not be embarrassed. Attending the workshop has raised my awareness around the differences in our worldview. My practice of this awareness will hopefully inform my responses to our students and their /our cultural needs as we work together.” (Email from Catherine Wouters, Principal, October 2023)</li> <li>● Two off-site workshops have been held with the papatipu rūnanga, Ngāi Tūāhuriru through their cultural educational workshops. From these workshops we have acquired:             <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ Valuable knowledge which ensures our learning environments are culturally safe for all ākonga / students. Example: The development of our new Clinical Practice Self – Reflective Workbook aligns with tikanga Māori and how our therapists demonstrate tikanga as part of their everyday practice. This has increased awareness of tikanga Māori across the organisation and the nail and beauty industry we work in.</li> <li>○ Strengthens our knowledge of Te Tiriti o Waitangi to support updated programme approval applications and developments.</li> <li>○ Gather expert advice on how we can embed tikanga Māori values into assessments and everyday teaching and learning practices.</li> </ul> </li> </ul>

Sources of evidence	What's going well?	Areas for improvement	Actions
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ How our strategies, behaviours, actions, services and resourcing reflect commitment to Te Tiriti o Waitangi.</li> <li>● Ako Aotearoa: Three members of the Education and Training team took part in a 3-part workshop Aromatawai and the Principles of Assessment to support the development of new assessments in 2023 to ensure they are student centred and promote inclusion. These assessments have since been approved by the NZQA Monitoring and Assessment division and continue to be reviewed through effective moderation practices.</li> <li>● These on-campus and off-campus around cultural awareness meet part of our 2023 Strategic Fund funding from the Tertiary Education Commission (TEC) to further embed and promote te reo and tikanga Māori within the school and our teaching.</li> </ul>
Wellbeing and safety awareness and promotion topics	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>● Safe health and mental health resources are provided for ākonga as part of their wellbeing check-ins, orientation and general school / study exposure, to include:               <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ Effective study skill methods</li> <li>○ Alternative ways to view anxiety and how to handle anxiety</li> <li>○ Family Violence Services</li> <li>○ Suicide and self-harm awareness</li> <li>○ Drug and alcohol awareness</li> <li>○ Counselling and support services</li> </ul> </li> <li>● Course subject Provide nutritional advice which is complementary to advanced beauty services promotes awareness and opportunity to discuss healthy lifestyle habits for ākonga / students. Students create nutritional plans as part of their learning and knowledge of healthy lifestyles. Subject knowledge includes but is not limited to:               <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ Adequate daily water intake</li> <li>○ Healthy, nutritious and sustainable food choices</li> <li>○ Healthy sleeping habits</li> <li>○ Daily exercise routines</li> </ul> </li> </ul>	Recent feedback from students highlighted our current nutrition project assessment was too long and not engaging.	4. Revise the nutrition assessment to ensure it continues to meet the learning outcomes of the course and the graduate profile outcomes of the qualifications through more engaging and informative content.

Contact and communication	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The SLO manages the allocated school cell phone on a day-to-day basis.</li> <li>• All ākonga / students have access to this central cell phone number and the 0800 freephone landline number and are able to reach the SLO either by phone, text, messenger, email and Microsoft TEAMS. These platforms are available for ākonga / students to communicate their lateness and / or non-attendance through. (We encourage texts as the primary method.)</li> </ul>

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Daily mornings meetings with SLO and Education Team provide the appropriate platform to discuss student absences for the day and any at-risk students who are showing declining trends in their attendance and / or engagement. Further follow up is then discussed and implemented such as contacting the student and arranging action plan meetings with the Principal and SLO.</li> <li>• All ākonga and kaimahi receive texts and / or notifications via our social media pages (Facebook and Instagram) on emergency issues, such as school closures, etc. These methods of communication are well received and proven effective as no colleague/ kaimahi or student / ākonga has been left unaware of a situation affecting school opening and / or closing times. Where there is a change in schedule due to an unforeseen circumstance with some lead-in time, these changes are communicated by email and word-of-mouth from the team to the students.</li> <li>• Microsoft TEAMS is a new platform introduced to both nail technology and beauty therapy students. This platform is widely used by our nail technology groups who communicate regularly with their kaiako / tutor when reporting their lateness or non-attendance.</li> </ul>
Non-Attendance Notice and Grade Notice reports and policies	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 96% (43 / 45) of students who responded to the statement "I feel the reports I receive help me monitor my progress" from the programme evaluation surveys either agreed or strongly agreed with this statement.</li> <li>• 93% (42 / 45) also agreed or strongly agreed that they could approach a member of the administration team for a written report on the progress/ attendance when required.</li> <li>• NaSA make a conscious effort to ensure no students have been disadvantaged in their learning when requiring absences for COVID-19 and isolation requirements. Additional catch-up sessions have been made available, as well as a large number of teaching and learning resources made available via our Moodle platform for students to be able to continue with their learning where possible</li> </ul>	When questioned about what we could on improve on with policy and procedures, one student commented that they thought we should "review the attendance hours policy". After discussion with all kaimahi / colleagues it was agreed that the policy is clearly delivered to all students who start a new intake with us.	5. Team meetings / strategic focussed meetings / end-of-intake reporting / self-review of Code of Practice	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Strategic focused meetings are scheduled once a term as per the organisation self-assessment calendar. These meetings are structured and prepared by our Quality Assurance and Compliance Officer and based around the strategic direction of the organisation. For 2023, this will mainly focus on the development of our new Work Integrated Learning (WIL) component and ensuring our programmes and assessments honour Te Tiriti and are further focused with a Māori lens.</li> <li>End-of-intake reporting occurs twice a year at the completion of each intake with all kaimahi / colleagues. Application, interview, enrolment, and orientation	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Students complete an interview with our SLO after application to study at NaSA to determine any areas which may affect their studies, such as reading and writing difficulties as well as their suitability for the programme. We recently added a column in the interview database as a "yes / no" option for students who have identified a disability or learning condition to be highlighted. (There has been a column to indicate specifics of a disability or condition, but this has not highlighted automatically.) This helps ensure we have the support in place for students prior to them starting their studies with us.</li> <li>Specific learning needs / learning styles and any other requirements are shared with the education and training team at the start of delivery to ensure appropriate teaching and learning methods are incorporated within the lesson plan structure.</li> </ul>	During the March 2023 student council meeting, students commented on our SLO's limited availability. Students were approaching the SLO for supplies at the same time other students needed to speak with the SLO about other matters. We rectified this matter. All tutors and the Director of Operations have the appropriate equipment to sell to students if required. Our SLO has a designated block of time for students to visit them inside of their programme hours.	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Socialise the NZQA Digital Tool Kit on the Code of Practice and internal complaint procedures into all future orientation sessions. Programme evaluations from intakes of the beauty therapy programme	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>28 / 29 (97%) of graduating students who responded to the survey either agreed or strongly agreed that they felt they were making the best effort to be fully involved in the course and were working to their full potential in their programme.</li> <li>29 / 29 (100%) of students agreed or strongly agreed that they had learnt a lot from their programme.</li> <li>86% (25 / 29) of students who responded agreed or strongly agreed that tutors use effective teaching methods that enhance their learning.</li> <li>75% (21 / 28) students who responded felt the school provides an accepting and inclusive environment.</li> <li>86% (25 / 29) of students agreed or strongly agreed that tutors encourage them to raise questions and comments which are relevant to their learning and contribute to improving their learning.</li> <li>83% of eligible students who responded (5 / 6) felt accepted into the school as a Māori student and no comments were made as to how we could provide a more inclusive learning environment.</li> <li>89% (25 / 28) of students who responded strongly agreed or agreed that they felt they could approach a member of the school team one to one with issues to help resolve them quickly and efficiently.</li> </ul>	During the August 2023 student council meeting, it was raised if a suggestion box could be available for students to add suggestions on how their learning experience could be improved. At that time, it was agreed that student suggestions could be passed and left with the SLO office anonymously and senior management would access these comments frequently. However, further investigation by the Director of Operations has pushed this towards a digital suggestion box (to help reduce our environmental impact), which we are currently investigating.	10. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a.
